What we offer:

Safety leadership

Consulting

Risk Manager

Training

Safety starts at the top of an organisation with the Board and senior managers. To help you build your safety capability we offer:

- Governance and assurance—We can assist boards with their H&S and operational risk management including development of leading and lagging indicators, external audits and risk workshops.
- Executive coaching—Bespoke workshops that will inform, engage and challenge the current thinking of your executives towards health & safety.
- Safety culture—Safety culture has been described as the glue that holds a health and safety management system together. But how do you know what your culture is and how do you influence it? We have safety culture surveys that can shed light on the answer.
- Work with industry and other stakeholder groups—We work with industry stakeholders to develop strategies, guidelines and standards.

Risk Manager is a sophisticated web based health, safety and risk management software solution designed to:

- Meet all your regulatory requirements
- Simplify Risk Management practices
- Streamline your internal processes and reporting

Risk Manager's combination of fully integrated modules provide a comprehensive platform from which to really drive your strategy.

Impac specialises in designing frameworks and systems that fit your organisation, rather than imposing an 'off the shelf' package. We tailor to your needs taking into account your organisation structure, industry risk and issues, current safety culture and your desired long term objective.

- H&S Systems—We can assist you to develop your own H&S system or transform your current one using reviews and audits (including pre-ACC) to identify strengths and weaknesses.
- Investigations—When things go wrong you may need help—fast. Whether it is dealing with the regulator, supporting your internal investigation, working with your lawyers to assess potential liability, providing expert evidence in Court or undertaking a wider review of the implications of an event.
- Business Analysis—Our business analysts can help you cut through the paperwork and make your system really work for you.
- Project Safety Management—Undertaking a major project is a unique opportunity to embed good safety processes. We advise on procurement strategies, managing overlapping projects, contractor selection and monitoring project performance.

Impac training offers clients training which is affordable and will ensure your staff leave with useful skills that will enthuse them to improve H&S in the workplace. Impac offers:

- Guidance in working out what training you really need to be safe
- A nationwide network of qualified trainers that are also H&S professionals
- Flexible formats enabling us to design courses to meet your objectives and outcomes
- Programmes that empower line managers to lead H&S in the workplace
- Internationally recognised qualifications such as the NEBOSH International General Certificate and International Diploma in Occupational Safety and Health
- NZQA courses and qualifications at all levels
- Training administration services
